

September 2013

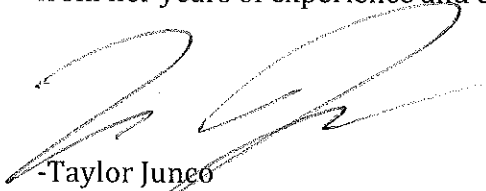

To whom it may concern

Thankfully I began my shipping operations career as a trainee under Peggy Hoeegh Grays in 2010.

Under her supervision I gained the necessary fundamentals to become a successful project cargo operator. Peggy provided oversight and taught with great patience laytime calculations, Bill of Ladings, Charter Party terms, legal advice, etc. and most importantly instilled confidence to bring my operations to the next level.

Working with her for nearly two years has without a doubt put me in the position to excel my career within the shipping community. Her abstract way of thinking in order to maximize savings in my opinion makes her an elite operator.

Whether a trainee or a company seeking consultancy, one would greatly benefit from her years of experience and extensive shipping knowledge going forward.

-Taylor Junco
Operations Manager – Thorco Shipping USA